

Pentagon Says Reservists Not To Be Called

President Kennedy, in a special television message to the nation at 5 p.m. yesterday, announced that he had ordered a quarantine against all shipping going to Cuba.

The President's quarantine amounts to what officials term a "belligerent blockade" which international law considers to be an act of war.

The proclamation came as a result of "unmistakable evidence" that the Russians have begun turning Cuba into an offensive military base capable of delivering a nuclear attack against the United States or other nations in this hemisphere.

The President stated that the Russians are arming Cuba with long-range nuclear missiles aimed at the United States and jet bombers capable of carrying atomic payloads.

To halt the build-up President Kennedy ordered that all ships going to Cuba be stopped and searched and turned back if they are carrying offensive weapons. Any ships refusing to comply are to be sunk.

In the hours preceding the President's proclamation the dependents of troops at Guantanamo Bay in Cuba were withdrawn. President Kennedy gave orders to double the strength of the garrison at Guantanamo. He also ordered American troops and Naval vessels to return the fire of any ships or planes firing on U.S. troops or vessels.

A Pentagon spokesman said that the United States was prepared to "go all the way" in eliminating the threat posed by Cuba. When asked if we were prepared to bomb Cuban missile sites he replied that the President had simply noted that further action might have to be taken.

In a strong warning to Khrushchev President Kennedy said that any nuclear missile fired from Cuban bases on any nation in this hemisphere would be considered an act of war by Russia and would result in the full retaliatory power of the United States being loosed at Russia.

The President asked that Khrushchev halt "this clandestine, reckless, and provocative threat to peace." He added that this was his chance to move the world back from the "abyss of destruction."

A spokesman for Castro's Cuba, Luis Gomez, said that the American Naval blockade constitutes an act of war. He warned the United States "we are not alone." Gomez did not say what action would be taken by Cuba.

A Pentagon spokesman said that no immediate plans had been made to call up the military reservists because of the Cuban crisis. He hinted at the possibility of calling up some specialists later and that enlistments and duty terms of officers might be extended if the situation deems it necessary.

Home Ec Instructor Attends Croft Fair

Miss Aaltje Van Denburg, instructor of related arts and crafts in the University of Tennessee, Martin Branch, is attending the Craftsman's Fair of the Southern Highlands in Gatlinburg this week, Oct. 23-27.

The fair is sponsored by the Southern Highland Handicraft Guild, of which Miss VanDenburg is a member. Its purpose is to display the work of members of the guild, to bring guild members together, and to create interest in handicrafts.

There will be displays and demonstrations of such crafts as weaving, woodworking, pottery making, and jewelry making.

Miss Van Denburg will sing at the fair each night.

Rehearsals For Concert Band To Start On Nov. 20

Rehearsals for the UTMB Concert Band will begin Tuesday, November 20.

Professor Glenn Wiesner, director of the band, has announced that rehearsals will be held every Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, from 4:10 to 5:30. He called attention to the fact that while practice will begin Nov. 20, actual registration for the band with one hour credit will occur at the time of registration for the Winter quarter.

Professor Wiesner said that all band students would be given early registration numbers in order to be able to work their class schedules around band rehearsal times.

A list of the audition dates will be posted in the Music Building, next to room 102, Nov. 1.

The dates are Nov. 5, 1:00-6:00; Nov. 6, 8:30-10:00 and 12:00-3:00; Nov. 7, 9:00-10:00 and 1:00-3:00; Nov. 8, 8:30-10:00 and 12:00-3:00 o'clock. The chair positions will be posted Monday, Nov. 12.

Professor Wiesner stated that the auditions will be held in the studio, Room 102, and that no memorized material would be needed. He added that all types of instruments are needed to complete the instrumentation for the band.

He emphasized that all students who have schedule conflicts, need an instrument, or have any other problem should contact him in his office immediately.

The band will present at least two concerts during the winter and spring quarters in addition to several other varied performances.

Professor Wiesner said that the concert band is open to all UTMB students and he said he is extending an invitation to all to participate.

Big Name Band Coming To UTMB!

The possibility of the appearance of a big name band or vocal group on the campus of the University of Tennessee, Martin Branch, was a leading topic of discussion at the recent ASA On-Campus Retreat.

According to Miss Bettye Giles, chairman of the social committee, this is not a new idea, but it is just now becoming a strong possibility.

"What we need now is to see how the students feel and if they are really interested. We hope it will be discussed across campus and enough interest will be shown that some action can be taken soon," Miss Giles said.

A committee consisting of Miss Bettye Giles, Miss Mary Elizabeth Grabel, Maurice Carroll, Billy Greene, Dick Moseman, Howard Finley, Peggy Wall, and David Stroud was appointed to investigate further the possibilities of arranging and financing the project.

Baptists Rank First In Number at UTMB

Baptists lead in numbers among the 13 religious faiths represented on the University of Tennessee, Martin Branch, campus with a total of 545 students.

Next high in number are the 406 Methodist students.

In the number three position, so far as the number of student members is concerned, is the Church of Christ, with 169.

Linda Cox Elected Homecoming Queen In Vote Yesterday

Linda Cox, a junior in elementary education, was elected Homecoming Queen by vote of the student body yesterday.

She was chosen from a group of 12 nominees named by the various organizations on campus.

Linda was recently elected ROTC sponsor. She was a campus leader in 1961-62. She is a member of Alpha Delta Pi Sorority.

She will be formally crowned at halftime of the Homecoming game Saturday.

Elected first and second maids, respectively, were Glenda Hampton and Emily Day.

Glenda is a sophomore in secondary education. She is sophomore class reporter, and was recently elected ROTC sponsor. Her sorority is Chi Omega.

Emily is a sophomore, majoring in home economics. She is a cheerleader, and was also elected ROTC sponsor this year. Chi Omega is her sorority.

ROTC Completes Its First Decade

The Reserve Officer Training Corps completed its first decade of service at UTMB in October, 1962, according to Capt. Thomas B. Petty, associate professor of military science at UTMB.

The local unit was established in 1952 by the Department of Military Science at Knoxville. For the school year of 1952-1953 it had a total enrollment of 180 cadets which has since increased to a total of 526 students enrolled in ROTC.

Vice President Meek stated that UTMB is proud of its ROTC program which gives the young men an opportunity to develop qualities of leadership and skills essential in either peacetime or national emergency.

The ROTC program is designed to qualify men for commissions as officers in the armed forces. It also makes possible the securing of four years of college with exemption from Selective Service.

UTMB Will Host Speech Finals

The state finals of the Tennessee Interscholastic Speech and Drama League are to be held on the UTMB campus.

A positive date for the meeting has not yet been set but Ed M. Chenette, professor of English at UTMB, who is chairman of District 2 of the organization which includes this area, stated that it would probably be either March 20 or April 30.

He stated that the finals would include contests in debate, boys and girls oratory, oral poetry interpretation, humorous reading, extemporaneous speaking, and one act plays.

Professor Chenette added that the league will include contest winners from over the entire state.

Pres. Andrew D. Holt To Be Special Guest At UTMB's Homecoming

Bond Director Needs Experienced Players

Professor Glenn R. Wiesner, instructor of instrumental music, and director of the band, has issued an urgent plea for experienced instrumentalists to play in the marching band.

"We've got the uniforms and instruments, and all we need are the students to fill them," Professor Wiesner said. There are currently 46 students playing in the band, but there are places for many more, according to Professor Wiesner.

"A school the size of U-T Martin Branch should have a band of at least 200. We need everyone we can get," said Professor Wiesner.

Miss Hall Named Pillsbury Entry

Jennie Lou Hall, a senior in Home Economics, has been chosen by her Department as UTMB's entrant in the 1963 Pillsbury Awards Program.

To qualify for competition the applicant must be an outstanding Home Economics major who is receiving a bachelor's degree during the period, January to June. She must have a pleasing personality and appearance, must be single, and interested in young people.

The awards program includes: (1) a year's "on the job" training fellowship, (2) an award of $1,000 and (3) a $2,500 scholarship for graduate study in Home Economics. If the award's winners prefers and a suitable opening exists, she may secure a permanent position with the Pillsbury Company.

The winner of this award will begin work as associate director of the Junior Home Service Center on June 30, 1963.

Jennie Lou is a former editor of The Volette. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Hall of Capleville.

Education Leads UTMB Enrollment

The Education Department leads the way in total enrollment at The University of Tennessee Martin Branch with 400 students.

The enrollment in the other departments is as follows: Business Administration, 230; Engineering, 229; Liberal Arts, 204; Agriculture, 194; Home Economics, 106.

The enrollment by classes: senior class, 123; junior class, 154; sophomore class, 469; freshman class, 487. There are five special, 16 part time, and nine unclassified students enrolled.

The ratio of men to women students remains about 2 to 1. There are 903 men and 460 women enrolled, for a total of 1,363.

Work Is Begun On New UTMB Volunteer

The UTMB Volunteer, the college yearbook, is making very good progress, according to editor Mary Alice Smith.

She stated that the past few weeks have been devoted primarily to getting organized and selecting the staff members. She added that the layouts for the annual have been chosen.

Other staff members are George Shankle, assistant editor; Jim Fortner, supervisor; Ed B. Chenette and Sherry Bingham, class editors; Margaret Simrell, index editor; Betty Weems, Greek and dorm editor; Taylor Johnson and J. T. Patterson, editors of clubs and organizations; and Dickie Hutherson, sports editor.

Dance Concludes Day

"Century of Progress" has been selected as the theme of the 33rd annual UTMB "Barnwarmin'", October 27.

"The Confederates" will play at the dance from 8:00 till 11:45 p.m. The price of tickets for the dance will be $2 stag or drag.

As is customary, at the midpoint of the dance the "Barnwarmin'" king and queen will be crowned. The Alpha Zeta cup will be presented to the sophomore who was selected by the agriculture faculty as the outstanding freshman for last year.

Traditional refreshments of fresh apple cider and gingerbread will be served.

For the dance, appropriate dress will be blue jeans and plaid shirts for boys and cotton dresses for girls or any informal attire for either.

Agriculture club president, John T. Harris, has extended an invitation to everyone on or off campus to share a "great time" at the 33rd annual Barnwarmin'.

Lower Classmen Choose Leaders

In what was termed as the "hottest campaign ever on UTMB campus," Billy Green of Kenton was elected president of the sophomore class and Howard Finley of Finley was named to head the freshmen on Oct. 2.

A run-off was necessary to break the tie among Greene, Dick Moseman and Jimmy Wilson in the sophomore class presidency. Greene was announced the winner following the second vote on Oct. 5.

Other sophomore officers are as follows: Jimmy Vaughan of Martin, vice president; Ann White of Hornbeak, secretary; Candy Young of Linden, treasurer; Judy Wright of Martin, annual representative; Jimmy Long of Martin, ASA representative; Glenda Hampton of Union City, reporter.

Giving support to Howard Finley, president, will be other freshman officers as follows: Alan Jones of Brunswick, Ga., vice president; Mary Fortner of Huntingdon, secretary; Sandra Bullington of Martin, treasurer; Jane Burnett of Union City, annual representative; Jimmy Jones of Parsons, ASA representative; David Duncan of Martin, reporter.

Bonfire Sparks Spirit

This Friday, Oct. 26, at 7:00 p.m. is the time of the annual bonfire and pep rally which will officially begin Homecoming activities for the University of Tennessee, Martin Branch.

The grove in front of the gym will be the setting for the introduction of the football royalty, talks from the coaches and a guest speaker, and the traditional burning of the dummy.

This year's Delta State Statesmen will experience an especially fiery death, according to members of the freshman class who have promised this to be the largest bonfire ever.

The cheerleaders say, "This bonfire and pep rally will provide an excellent opportunity for UTMB students to really get the 'Tennessee Spirit' moving, so let's all be there to start the ball rolling for a great victory over Delta State."

Davis-Bugg Get Vanguard Leads

Selection of the members of the cast of the Vanguard Theatre production, Patricia Joudry's Teach Me How to Cry, have been announced.

Sylvia Davis of Nashville and Maurice Bugg of Ruthersford have been selected to play the leads.

Other members of the cast are Mackie Hughes of Ozark, Ala., Ruby Long of Parsons, Wanda Rust of Bells, Eddie Bivens of Old Hickory, Charlotte Davidson of Lawrenceburg, Mary Jane Tilson of Union City, Pam Prince of Dyersburg, and Robert Wigdor of Hornbeak.

SUE PENN

Sue Penn of Trenton has been selected to serve as student director, and she will assist E. Shaw Robison, instructor in speech at UTMB. Sue was one of the principals in the 1961 fall quarter production of My Three Angels.

Styles Trend Toward Showing Knee Action

By Gail Parks

A walk across UTMB's campus will reveal knees, masculine and feminine, and plenty of them.

Bermudas, more popular this year than ever before, reveal them. Both the ladies and gents are enjoying their casual comfort as well as the scenery afforded thereby.

Many girls are wearing sporty culottes. The most popular versions are pleated or flared and worn about 3 to 4 inches above the knees. And the fellows like them; yesterday as a girl passed by with culottes blowing in the breeze a guy remarked to me, "I really like those skirts like that!"

With the late arrival of crisp autumn weather, sporty sweaters will be returning to the campus scene. The cardigan, which looked great on the guys last fall, is expected to be even more popular this year. And I have been told that their trousers are trimmer and more tapered, the ivy look, you know, many of them without cuffs. Wide belts and belt loops are rapidly reappearing.

A coed's classic is the skirt and sweater. As a rule the sweaters are loose-fitting and come in a variety of colors. Skirts are as you like them: straight, flared, pleated, and if anything, shorter than ever before.

All in all, this fall's fashion keynote is comfort and variety. But as always the most essential costume for both guy and gal is the one worn on dark, rainy mornings to that eight o'clock class—the inevitable raincoat and umbrella!

Dr. Andrew D. Holt, president of The University of Tennessee, will be the principal speaker at the UT Martin Branch Alumni Association luncheon on Homecoming Day Oct. 27.

Special recognition will be given at the luncheon to the UTMB alumni of the classes of 1932, 1937, 1942 and 1947.

Harold Lile of Covington, president of the UTMB association, will officiate at the luncheon, which will be held at the National Guard Armory. Welcome will be extended by David Stroud, president of the All Students Association, and Dr. Paul Meek, vice president of The University of Tennessee in charge of the Martin Branch, will make the introductions. K. C. Dodson, president-elect of the U-T General Alumni Association, Knoxville will be a special guest.

In the Homecoming football game at 2 p.m., the UTMB Vols will meet the Delta State Statesmen of Cleveland, Miss. UTMB's new marching band will perform at halftime.

Other activities of the day will include an informal get-together of alumni in the Administration Building beginning at 9 a.m. A meeting of the UTMB Alumni executive committee will be held at 10 a.m.

The Homecoming parade will begin at 11 a.m.

This year's parade will consist of approximately 16 floats and five decorated cars. Also in the parade will be bands from Martin, Paris, Union City, Bruceton, and the new UTMB band.

The float competition will consist of a float from any organization that has representation in the All Students Association. The theme of the floats will be carried out to emphasize the Homecoming of alumni or the football game between UTMB and Delta State. The judging of the homecoming entries will be based on originality of theme and the manner in which it is presented. A first prize of $25, and a second prize of $15, and a third prize of $10 will be awarded to the winning floats.

Decorated car entries are open to organizations having representation in the ASA and also to any individual student who may wish to make an entry. The theme will be the same as for the floats. First prize will be $15, second prize $7.50, and third prize of $5.

Judges will be located in front of the Gulf Service Station. All winners will be announced at the half during the football game.

Registration on Homecoming Day for all entries will take place behind the old science building in front of the Book Store.

Floats and cars should begin assembling at 10 a.m. in order that the parade may start promptly at 11 p.m. The assembly point will be in the vicinity of the T-Room.

The parade route will be down University Street, turning into Lindell, Church, and down Oxford to the athletic field.

WCMT, the local Martin radio station, will carry a broadcast of the parade.

After the game a coffee will be held for alumni, and at 8 p.m. the Barnwarmin' Dance, sponsored by the Ag Club, will be held at the gym.

Max Shulmon Joins The Volette Columns

A new advertising column entitled "On Campus" with Max Shulman has been added to The Volette.

Shulman is the author of The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis, I Was a Teenage Dwarf, and other novels concerning life on college campuses. The column is sponsored by the makers of Marlboro cigarettes. (See Mr. Shulman's thoughts for the day on page 3)

Homecoming Is For All

Homecoming is a spirit-lifting occasion for all who participate in it.

Even though Homecoming in the exact sense of the word is especially for alumni, it also affords a festive occasion for students.

For us students, Homecoming activities have already begun with the planning and building of floats and decorating of cars for the annual parade, the election of our Homecoming royalty, and other activities.

The traditional bonfire and pep rally Friday night will trigger the exciting round of Homecoming activities. As a bonus for the big occasion Saturday classes will be dismissed and the day will be spent in the true "Tennessee Spirit."

The traditional Homecoming parade promises to be bigger and better than ever with more floats, cars, and bands entered this year than ever before. Saturday afternoon the UTMB Vols will meet the Delta State Statesmen in the game of the season. UTMB's new marching band will perform at half time to add more color and spirit to the occasion.

The coronation of Barnwarmin' King and Queen Saturday night will climax Homecoming activities. With all of the preparations that have been made, this Homecoming can certainly be a day to remember. Let's all do our best and join in the activities of the day to make it the greatest ever to UTMB.

UNICEF Has Halloween Lesson

Again this year Halloween's traditional "Trick or Treat" has a little different ring to it than in the days of our parents.

Across the country school children are "trick or treating" for UNICEF, the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund. This fund was created by the United Nations General Assembly in December of 1946, for the relief and rehabilitation of children in war torn countries and for child health throughout the world. The fund is supported entirely by voluntary contributions from governments and individuals.

This Halloween children throughout the country will be ringing doorbells asking for help in supporting this worthwhile organization. We, the students of UTMB, would do well to take a lesson from the maturity represented by this act and do something constructive with our Halloween, rather than spend it in unnecessary childish mischief.

Are Students Ready to Grow?

UTMB is growing up.

During the past few years much has been done to improve our university. New instructional programs have been set up, new members have been added to the faculty, and new opportunities, such as the co-op programs and the four-year degrees program, have been made available to UTMB students.

Now the possibility of the appearance of a big name band or vocal group, the plans for a lecture series, and the newly begun history museum show that UTMB is growing in other directions. We are ready for more cultural advancement, too.

This is necessary in order that we may receive a well-rounded education which is the reason we are attending college in the first place. However, it is only through the interest and enthusiasm which the students show that these new plans can be carried out. Let's do our part to get the show on the road. UTMB is ready. Are we ready to make the move to advance culture on our campus?

Fight, Fight, Fight!

UTMB has a new fight song.

The catchy tune played by UTMB's new band should do much to promote college spirit at ball games, pep rallies, and on other "spirited" occasions.

We thank the three faculty members for so aptly catching the "Tennessee Spirit" and putting it in a new jug.

Seniors Can Take SS Exams

The Social Security Administration will soon make selections for claims representative trainee positions from college seniors who pass the Federal Service Entrance Examination, according to H. W. Carmichael, field representative of Dyersburg, District Office of Social Security Administration, who visited the UTMB campus recently.

Applications for the next Federal Service Entrance Examination must be in by Nov. 1. The test will be given for this area at Union City. College seniors expecting to graduate in June 1963, are eligible to take the test. N. Farris Vaden, district manager for social security in Dyersburg, stressed the importance of taking the test early in the school year.

Those selected will, soon after graduation, begin work at one of the social security training centers in the south-east. After 13 weeks in a training school, the trainees will be assigned to one of 65 district offices in the south-east.

While in training, and for the first three months in a district office, trainees are paid approximately $362 a month. The salary then increases to $446 a month with an increase to $490 in twelve months. Promotional opportunities are good and the work is satisfying and stimulating, according to Mr. Vaden.

Anyone interested in job opportunities in social security should contact Mr. Vaden in Dyersburg. His telephone number is AT 5-7403.

Greeks Pledge 71 As Climax To Fall Rush

The pledging of 71 men to the fraternities on the UTMB campus climaxed fall rush for Greek letter organizations.

The new pledges are as follows:

Alumni Attend Knoxville Meet

Vice President Paul Meek and representatives of the U-T Martin Branch Alumni Association attended meetings of the U-T Development Council and the U-T General Alumni Board of Governors in Knoxville Friday.

Among those from UTMB attending the meetings on the Knoxville campus were Harold Lile and Elmer Counce, president and executive secretary of the UTMB alumni respectively, and David Stroud, president of UTMB All Students Association. Lile and Stroud are members of the U-T General Alumni Board of Governors. Vice President Meek is a member of the U-T Development Council.

President Andrew D. Holt gave a dinner for members of the Development Council, and the Board of Governors and state officers of the U-T General Alumni Association Friday evening. This was preceded by a luncheon Friday noon for members of the U-T General Alumni Board of Governors at which members of the Development Council were guests.

English Exam Is Scheduled Nov. 6

The Junior English exam will be held Tuesday, Nov. 6, 1 to 3 p.m. in room 204 of the Administration building, according to Dr. John McCall, chairman of the English Department.

He emphasized that the exam is a prerequisite to receiving a degree and must be taken by all juniors and also any seniors who have not yet taken it.

As in previous years, the examinee must write a theme on one of several subjects offered. Those failing the exam will be required to attend an English workshop or take English grammar 443.

CAMPUS CHARACTER—

Steam Boilers Fail To Prepare Super For Pressures Of Cooker

By Ernestine McCall

Mr. Wade "Red" Freeman, superintendent of buildings and grounds at UTMB, is a familiar character around our campus. He is a witty, wise, and an entertaining character as he goes about his work here. A friend to all, Mr. Freeman is never without an anecdote or humorous tale to interest everyone.

He is a well-informed man. He can explain anything from classification of clover leaves to how his home town, Gleason, Tennessee, became the potato capital of the world. Of course, sometimes his judgment is slightly off as it was once when he lifted the lid of a pressure cooker a bit too soon only to have streams of potatoes all over the place. There were potatoes on the floor, potatoes on his Sunday suit, and in his face and hair. Mrs. Freeman was not in too much of a good Sunday-dinner-mood after she got a look at her kitchen. Mr. Freeman's experience with steam boilers on campus apparently did not prepare him for this experience.

Mr. Freeman was born in Weakley County and graduated from Gleason High School. There he participated in baseball, basketball, and football. He was class president during his senior year.

He paid his way through U-T Junior College by working in the school cafeteria for five cents an hour. It was his duty to have a fire blazing in the cafeteria fire place by 4:00 in the morning and then to set the tables since the students ate family style. Still later he picked up the dirty dishes and washed them. In the afternoons he also gathered vegetables from the garden. It was during these two years that Mr. Freeman met the future Mrs. Freeman. It is notable that Mr. Freeman was president of the fifth graduating class of the junior college.

After his graduation, Mr. Freeman attended Michigan State one year. He was then apprenticed to General Motors for seven years to learn the tool and dye making trade. During this period, he attended classes part time and worked part time.

While Mr. Freeman was still apprenticed, he got married, and the couple eventually had four lovely daughters. In 1948, Mr. Freeman became employed by the then U-T Junior College. It was not until 1954 that "Red" decided to return to college. He graduated at the age of 53 with a major in agricultural engineering.

Mr. Freeman has an ardent love for the out-of-doors. He enjoys fishing and hunting tremendously, especially with his nine year old daughter,

"RED" FREEMAN

Kathy. The two spend many hours gardening in their own back yard and fishing at Kentucky Lake. Kathy has three bird dogs and her father has two; they have trapped or caught a number of animals. Among those creatures that have "visited" in the Freeman house are raccoons, flying squirrels, turkeys, chickens, geese, skunks, pigeons, and squirrels. The women of the Freeman family have become accustomed to finding half-frozen baby birds in their oven that Red has brought home from hunting trips.

Mr. Freeman loves to dance, especially the twist. He recently won a limbo contest at the Martin High School. This active man has been a member of the Rotary Club for seventeen years. He holds a fifteen year perfect attendance record and has served as both president and secretary of the club. He is a Mason and a member of the Methodist Church. Mrs. Freeman sings in the choir and Mr. Freeman is an usher.

Alice Clare, the oldest of the four daughters, is now employed in Memphis by the Donalson Company. Susie, a UTMB majorette, is a freshman at Martin High School, and Kathy, the family tom boy, is in the fourth grade. Mrs. Freeman teaches English there in the high school.

Mr. Freeman says that his greatest thrill was in graduating from UTMB last year with Alice Clare. At the time of their graduation a picture appeared in The Commercial Appeal praising this family's educational achievements. The caption noted that all six members of the Freeman family were attending school at the same time; while Alice Clare and her father graduated from college, Susie graduated from high school and Martha Helen completed the eighth grade. It is not every day that we find a family like the Freemans.

Phi Sigs Swipe ATO Cannon Before Game

By Ruby Long

"Cannon, cannon, who's got the cannon?"

This was the question the ATO fraternity chapter at Murray State was asking the morning of Oct. 12 when they discovered theirs was missing.

It seems the night of Oct. 11, the pledge class of the Phi Sigma Kappa chapter at UTMB had rented a U-haul trailer, driven to Murray, and "borrowed" the coveted cannon.

It is traditionally fired at football games when the "Thoroughbreds" score a touchdown, so they intended to reverse the process and fire it at the game Saturday night when UTMB scored a touchdown. At the half, they intended to present the cannon back to the Murray ATO's.

However, these plans were not to be carried through. The ATO's discovered where the cannon was, and many phone calls later, it was returned to its rightful owners. The incident was not forgotten, however, and Saturday night during the football game, the cannon's roar could be heard amid the screaming of the fans when either side scored a touchdown.

The non-partisan school spirit this helped bring about was evidenced by the response of the large crowd attending the game. The climax came at the half, when members of both fraternities marched on to the field and held an impromptu cannon firing ceremony together.

UTMB Named In Student Policies

Adam Hall, senior in business administration, and Glen Kelso, senior in agriculture, have each taken out a life insurance policy in which the University of Tennessee Martin Branch, has been named as one of the beneficiaries.

Dr. A. D. Holt, president of the University of Tennessee, sent each a personal letter in which he stated, "On behalf of the Board of Trustees and administration of the University, I wish to express to you our deepest appreciation for this thoughtfulness and kindness on your part."

A part of the funds which provide for the operation and future expansion of the University must come from private donations. Operating an institution such as UTMB is a tremendous burden to the state and without these donations it is doubtful if many of the needs of the college could be met.

It is hoped by the administration that more and more students and alumni who take out life insurance policies will name UTMB as a beneficiary.

Professor John E. Hornoff, history student Linda Martin, and Professor Langdon Unger examine historical materials which will be placed in the archives of the museum of history recently begun on the UTMB campus.

Clubs and Organizations:

Aristocrats To Play For Engineers' Ball Nov. 16

Plans for the annual Engineer's Ball to be held Nov. 16 at the Strata Club, were made at the Engineer's club meeting Monday night, Oct. 15.

The Aristocrats from Paris will furnish the music.

Speakers for the Oct. 15 meeting were Wiley Thomas, head of the Co-Op program at U-T Knoxville, who spoke on the merits of the co-op plan, and Herbert Wiseman, of the Buss Electrical Fuse Co., who gave a demonstration on electrical fusing.

A film was shown entitled "Steel Across the Chesapeake." Of special interest was that part of the film which dealt with the role played by engineers in construction of bridges.

Leslie Freeman, a freshman in engineering and secretary of the Engineering club, was elected to represent the club in the Homecoming Queen contest.

Attend Meeting

Representatives of the Home Economics chapter of The University of Tennessee, Martin Branch, attended an executive board session of the Tennessee Home Economics Association, College Clubs Chapter, at Middle Tennessee State College October 12-13.

They were Gayle Lutz, UTMB senior and president of the THEA, College Clubs Section; Marjorie Jackson, junior, president of UTMB Home Economics Club; Dovie Jo Polsgrove, junior, vice president of the UTMB organization, and Miss Aaltje Van Denburg, state adviser to the college group.

Plans were made for the state convention which will be held in Nashville April 27-28.

Founder's Day Ceremony

Delta Mu Chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha held its Founders' Day Ceremony Monday night, October 15, at its apartment.

The "Big Sister-Little Sister" Ceremony was held Sunday morning, October 14, with a breakfast following the service.

Formal pledge services were held Sunday night, October 7 for the 12 new pledges.

Ruth Campbell has been elected president of the pledge class. Officers elected to serve with her are Joy Durham, vice president; Lynn Page, secretary; and Joyce Shelby, treasurer.

Chapter officers recently elected to fill vacancies left from last year are Mert Brown, ASA representative; Joyce Hearn, house manager; and Judy Brandon and Jennie Bromley, chaplains.

Freeman Hall

Harriet Jenkins was elected president of Freeman Hall for the fall quarter.

Other officers include Lucy Lowery, vice president; JoAnn

Robertson, secretary; Janice Robertson, treasurer; Liz Allred, reporter; Betty Kenny, All Students' Association representative; Linda Rogers, annual representative; and Linda Lisey, devotional chairman.

Sophomore Class

A theme was selected and committees were appointed to begin work on the Sophomore Class float at the class meeting held Tuesday night, Oct. 16.

Plans for the Christmas dance were also discussed and committees were appointed by Billy Greene, class president, to obtain information concerning a band and location for the dance.

Pi Kappa Alpha

Eleven new brothers were initiated into Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity at the beginning of this quarter. They are "Squirrel" Bivens, Richard Rice, Tommy Doyle, Jim Fortner, Al Morris, Deslonde Collins, Tony Phillips, Charles Woodbury, Sonny Pitts, Mike Anderson, and Dick Moseman.

Brothers Barry Wood, Mike Moss and Al Spivey attended the Pi Kappa Alpha national convention and leadership school in Louisville, Kentucky, this summer. They were recognized as delegates from the newest chapter of the 120 Pike chapters across the nation.

Officers of Pi Kappa Alpha are Raymond Newbill, president; Barry Wood, vice president; Wade Phillips, secretary; and Mike Moss, treasurer.

Fall Retreat

"The Christian Student Looks at Communism," was the theme for the Wesley Foundation Fall Retreat, held at the Lakeshore Methodist Church Camp the weekend of Oct. 20-21.

Professor L. S. Unger, UTMB history instructor, the principal speaker, delivered two talks "What is Communism Doctrine?" and "The Christian and Communism." Emmy Lou Whitehead delivered the challenge which concluded the retreat.

AD Pi's Make Float

Members of A D Pi's are working on their float for the Homecoming parade.

The Delta Upsilon will be hostess to the alumnae of West Tennessee Oct. 23. The chapter will meet with the alumnae to plan the coming year's social activities.

Janice McClanahan and Rebecca Culp attended the Alpha Delta Pi Regional Convention held recently in Athens, Ga.

Ruby Long was a contestant in the Miss Tennessee Pageant held in Jackson in August. The Delta Upsilon Chapter of Alpha Delta Pi held its summer social there during the Miss Tennessee Pageant.

Wright Heads Reed

Betty Ann Wright has been elected president of Reed Hall.

Other officers are Jane Brooks, vice president; Wilma Browning, secretary-treasurer; Jane Burnett, reporter; Susan Harris, All Students Association representative; Donna Hull, annual representative; and Delma Colvett, program chairman.

Phi Sig Calendar Opens

The Phi Sig social calendar formally opened on Friday night, Oct. 12, with an informal closed party at their house on Oakland.

Saturday night an after-the-game party was held in honor of the Alpha Tau Omega chapter of Murray State from whom a cannon was recently hoisted.

Chi Omega Elect

Glenda Hampton has been elected president of Chi Omega Pledge Class.

Other pledge class officers are Virginia Zachary, vice president; Jan Burnett, secretary; Emily Latham, treasurer; Annette Grissom and Martha Lee Woods, song leaders.

Fifteen girls were pledged by Chi Omega Monday night, Oct. 1, at the lodge. Following the ceremony an informal party was given at the Vol-Den in honor of the new pledges.

Patterson Heads L. A.

J. T. Patterson has been elected president of the Liberal Arts Club.

Other officers are Margaret Simmerel, vice president; Linda Martin, secretary-treasurer; Larry Spelght, parliamentarian; Sherry Bingham, All Students Association representative; and Anne White, reporter.

Anne White was also elected by the club to represent them for the Homecoming court election.

Alpha Tau Elects Pritchett

Bob Pritchett has been elected president of the Alpha Tau social club.

Other officers are Jerry Rice, vice president; Jeff Wilkinson, secretary; Louisa Crawford, treasurer; Jimmy Wilson, reporter; Tom Pickens, sergeant-at-arms; Bill Price, historian; Buddy Pritchett, parliamentarian; and Terry Huffstetter, All Students Association representative.

AGR's Head Open House

On Sunday afternoon, October 14, the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity held open house in honor of the brothers' parents. This was the first formal entertaining since the AGR's moved into their new home this fall. More than 120 people attended and signed the register which was attended by Miss Sandra Bell.

Refreshments of punch and cookies were served throughout the afternoon by Miss Alma Greer and the AGR Sweetheart, Miss Camille Sammons.

Linda Moore Heads Lits

Linda Moore was elected president of the Literary Club October 2.

Other officers are as follows: Nell White, vice president; Ed B. Chenette, second vice president; Rose Ann Randall, secretary; Patti Goff, reporter; Don Stephens, ASA representative. Professor Ed Chenette will serve as club sponsor for this year.

Plans for organizing a chapter of Sigma Tau Delta, National Honorary English Fraternity, were discussed.

The club plans to sponsor again this year the publication "Vista" and the annual conference of the Speech and Drama League.

Home Ec Club Plans

The Home Ec club made plans at its Oct. 15 meeting for a social honoring Home Economics Alumnae to be held Nov. 11.

Other plans were made to serve coffee to the Alumnae following the Homecoming game against Delta State and a committee was appointed to build a float for the Homecoming parade.

Dovie Jo Polsgrove gave a report on a recent planning session of the Tennessee Home Economics Association which she, Gayle Lutz, and Miss Aaltje Van Denburg attended at Middle Tennessee State College.

Captains Chosen For Intramurals

Eight captains and one co-captain for the women's intramural teams have been selected for the 1962-63 season.

They are Janette Barham, Orange; Sue Boone and Sherry Bingham, Red; Frances Clark, Brown; Carolyn Enoch, Green; Judy Holloman, Blue; Marita Moseman, Black; Linda Wiley, White; and Anne White, Yellow. Mary Ross is Intramural Manager.

The word "intramural" is derived from Latin words meaning "within the walls," thus intramural activities are athletic events planned for everyone here at UTMB. One doesn't have to be a highly-skilled person to participate. Fun and recreation are the keywords of intramurals at UTMB, but there is also a lot of competition among the teams.

At the beginning of each fall quarter, all UTMB freshmen men and women and transfer students are assigned to one of the eight color teams. Once a student is assigned to a team he remains a member of it for as long as he remains in college.

There are separate teams for the men and women, but the total points are added together for each color team in order to determine the winner. A winning team must have good participation by both the men and women. Last year's winner was Green team; Blue team was the runner-up. Everyone is advised to check the bulletin board in the gym where team assignments are listed. Each team captain will soon be contacting each member of her team to explain more about intramurals and to encourage each member to participate.

Bicycling Is Making Comeback At UTMB

There is a new fad sweeping the University of Tennessee, Martin Branch, campus.

Lately at all hours, between classes, early in the morning, in the middle of Sunday afternoon, an eleven late at night UTMB students can be spied riding, of all things, bicycles.

One enterprising freshman boy scoffs at the ordinary run of the mill type as he pedals down the road or across the campus on a special built extra tall two wheeler.

Other boys, who say that bicycling is a quick, easy, and inexpensive way to get from place to place may be observed riding merrily along with one hand on the handlebars and the other holding a book, open to the day's lesson. Of course, reading and riding can prove dangerous, even to an expert cyclist, and the word to pedestrians when one approaches is "Beware."

Even though the men on campus are the ones most often observed riding bicycles, the fad is not confined to them. Many of UTMB's coeds have wished they too had a bicycle, mostly for fun, recreation and exercise.

Femininity on wheels is not impossible here, since the men are usually more than willing to lend their wheels to the lady of their choice, if for no other reason than to observe the tumblers and sooth the ruffled feathers which result.

But the greatest treat as far as the girls are concerned, is to ride with their dates. They do the work, while the girls perch upon the handlebars. This has become quite the thing for a late afternoon date.

Who knows, before the craze ends the bicycle-built-for-two may outmode the 409 Chevrolet, on UTMB's campus, anyway. At any rate, bicyclists agree that it is fun, easy, different, and has definite advantages over the conventional mode of transportation here, i. e. walking.

Don Long Named Humboldt Editor

Don Long, UTMB graduate, class of '62, has been named editor of the Humboldt Courier-Chronicle.

Don will take over his new job Oct. 29.

Since his graduation from UTMB last spring, Don has worked as reporter on The Jackson Sun.

While at UTMB Don was a member of Vanguard Theatre, the Ag. Club, the AT Social Club, and reporter and feature writer on the Volette staff.

Don said, while on a visit to the campus recently, that he enjoys newspaper work very much and would like to see a four-year journalism course offered at UTMB.

"I believe there are enough students in this area interested in newspaper work to make it a worthwhile course to be offered at UTMB," he said.

Check Mail Boxes

All UTMB students are advised to check their mailboxes at least once daily.

According to the registrar's office, everyone is responsible for any notice placed in his mailbox, whether or not he takes the time and trouble to check the box.

Several incidents have occurred which could have been avoided had students checked their mailboxes as they were instructed; therefore, in order to avoid further confusion, the Registrar's Office encourages students to check their mailboxes regularly.

Delta Kappa Gamma Holds Meeting Here

Mrs. Nora Smith, state president, and Miss Louise Oakley, state chairman of research, of Delta Kappa Gamma, an honorary teachers society, conducted a district workshop on the University of Tennessee, Martin Branch, campus on Saturday, Oct. 20.

Delegates from three chapters representing five counties were present.

Miss Mary Ida Flowers, instructor in the UTMB Home Economics Department, and Miss Louise Hunt, instructor in the UTMB Education Department, are members of Delta Kappa Gamma.

HIGH TEST, LOW TEST, NO TEST

Just the other night I was saying to the little woman, "Do you think the importance of tests in American colleges is being overemphasized?" (The little woman, incidentally, is not, as you might think, my wife. My wife is far from a little woman. She is, in fact, almost seven feet high and heavily muscled. She is a full-blooded Chiricahua Apache and holds the world's hammer-throw record. The little woman I referred to is someone we found crouching under the sofa when we moved into our apartment several years ago, and there she has remained ever since. She never speaks, except to make a kind of guttural clicking sound when she is hungry. Actually, she is not too much fun to have around, but with my wife away at track meets most of the time, at least it gives me somebody to talk to.)

But I digress. "Do you think the importance of tests in American colleges is being overemphasized?" I said the other night to the little woman, and then I said, "Yes, Max, I do think the importance of tests in American colleges is being overemphasized." (As I have explained, the little woman does not speak, so when we have conversations, I am forced to do both parts.)

Actually, she is not too much fun to have around

To get back to tests—sure, they're important, but let's not allow them to get too important. There are, after all, many qualities and talents that simply can't be measured by quizzes. Is it right to penalize a gifted student whose gifts don't happen to be of the academic variety? Like, for instance, Gregor Sifsoos?

Gregor, a freshman at the New Hampshire College of Tanning and Belles Lettres, has never passed a single test; yet all who know him agree that he is studded with talent like a ham with cloves. He can, for example, sleep standing up. He can do a perfect imitation of a scarlet tanager. (I don't mean just do the bird calls; I mean he can fly South in the winter.) He can pick up B-B's with his toes. He can say "Toy boat" three times fast. He can build a rude telephone out of two empty Marlboro packs and 100 yards of butcher's twine. (Of all his impressive accomplishments, this last is the one Gregor likes to do best—not building the telephone, but emptying the Marlboro packs. Gregor doesn't just dump the Marlboros out of the pack. He smokes them one at a time—settling back, getting comfortable, savoring each tasty puff. As Gregor often says with a winsome smile, "By George, the makers of Marlboro took their time finding this fine flavor, this great filter, and by George, I'm going to take my time enjoying 'em!"

Well, sir, there you have Gregor Sifsoos—artist, humanist, philosopher, Marlboro smoker, and freshman since 1939. Will the world—so desperately in need of talent—ever benefit from Gregor's great gifts? Alas, no. He is in college to stay.

But even more tragic for mankind is the case of Anna Livia Plurabelle. Anna Livia, a classmate of Gregor's, had no talent, no gifts, no brains, no personality. All she had was a knack for taking tests. She would cram like crazy before a test, always get a perfect score, and then promptly forget everything she had learned. Naturally, she graduated with highest honors and degrees by the dozen, but the sad fact is that she left college no more educated, no more prepared to cope with the world, than when she entered. Today, a broken woman, she crouches under my sofa.

© 1962 Max Shulman

And speaking of tests, we makers of Marlboro put our cigarette through an impressive number before we send it to the market. But ultimately, there is only one test that counts: Do YOU like it? We think you will.

ROTC Elects Six Cadet Sponsors

The six ROTC cadet sponsors were presented to the Battle Group in ceremonies Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 18.

The six women are Sandra Westbrook, Emily Day, Linda Cox, Sherry Crum, Glenda Hampton, and Linda Long.

Five of the girls were presented honorary captain's bars and Sandra Westbrook was given the honorary insignia of lieutenant colonel.

The six sponsors were elected from 14 nominees chosen by the corp of cadets. The sponsors are subject to the approval of Vice President Meek and maintain an average of at least 2.00.

The Wagon Wheel, located in the basement of the Main Men's Dorm is open each Tuesday evening from 6 to 8 for informal dancing.

Vols Victimized By Penalties And Livingston State

The University of Tennessee Martin Branch plagued by 145 yards of penalties fell to Livingston State Saturday, 15 to 12.

Early in the first quarter the UTMB backfield fumbled the ball on their own 22 and Livingston recovered and drove to score a touchdown. The remainder of the first half was a defensive battle for both teams.

The Vols opened the second half with a 62 yard drive for a touchdown by fullback Darrel Smith who caught a 2 yard pass from quarterback Bill Watson. The attempt for extra points failed and the score was knotted at 6-6.

The Livingston State Tigers blocked a UTMB punt on a bad pass from center and recovered in the end zone for a safety. Later in the same quarter Tiger fullback Tom Abston ran 25 yards around left end for a TD. Tom Coggin's kick was good and Livingston had 15 points to the Vols' six.

At the end of the third period Vol end Wally Bielewicz caught a pass and ran 70 yards to set up UTMB's final tally. Vernon Prather kept the ball from 20 yards out and put it within inches of the goal line. He ran it over on the next play. Again the try for extra points failed and the Vols fell prey to the Tigers who notched their first homecoming victory in years.

It was evident from start to finish that the Vols were at the mercy of the officials who dished out 18 penalties to them. The statistics told an entirely different story. The Vols chalked up 18 first downs to the Tiger's eight. The Vols total offense was 194 yards more than Livingston State's.

From The Sidelines

By Ronnie Gill
The largest crowds in UTMB football history have watched the Vols in their home games this season. There were 3,000 persons at the opening game with Austin Peay State and 4,500 watched the Murray State contest. Indications point towards a record-breaking attendance at the homecoming game with Delta State.

The Vols have won three

Della To Bring 4-1 Record To Vol Homecoming

Delta State brings a 4-1 record into the Vols homecoming game Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m.

The Statesmen from Cleveland, Miss., upset tough Howard College last week, 15 to 8. Howard has beaten Furman, Chattanooga, and other top notch schools this season.

The Vols are behind in the series with Delta State having won only one game out of the last four. They beat the Statesmen 14 to 0 in 1958. Last year the Vols bowed to the strong Mississippians, 22 to 8.

UTMB's record stands at three wins and two losses. They have lost 15 to 12 in their last two outings—Murray State and Livingston State. The Vols are expected to be near top strength for the Delta State match. There are a few serious bruises on the squad according to the trainer. It is not known whether or not halfback Gene Brodie will be able to play. Brodie was injured early in the season and was taken out of last week's game with an injury.

Delta State is reported to be in good condition injury-wise. Several of their players were on duty with the National Guard during the Oxford crisis but have since returned to the squad.

Faculty Writes New Fight Song

Another "first" for UTMB was evidenced at the Murray State football game Oct. 13 with the debut of the new UTMB fight song.

This song is the "brain-child" of three of the faculty members, Miss Bettye Giles, Miss Aaltje VanDenburg, and Professor Glenn Wiesner.

About a year and a half ago Miss Giles mentioned to Miss VanDenburg that UTMB needed a fight song to aid in spurring the Vols to victory. Miss VanDenburg complied by writing:

Fight, fight, fight for the Orange and White;
Fight team, fight to win.
Please we implore you, we are pulling for you,
Please we implore you, we're pulling for you
Go team, don't give in
Go, go, go, and fight, fight, fight

On to victory
On to fame and win the game for Tennessee.

However, due to the fact that UTMB had no band to play it, the song was never used. This problem was solved this year with the arrival of Professor Wiesner, who made the necessary hand arrangements for it.

Practice Begins For Basketball

UTMB's basketball team began practice October 15 for the 1962-63 season.

Coach Floyd Burdette welcomed 11 of last year's squad along with six newcomers. Heading the list are seniors Roger Shore, Jim Swope, Norman Gher, and Joe Smith. Other returnees include Bob Fry, Larry Powers, Dolph Larimer, Jerry Rawls, Joe Polack, Johnny Williams, and Buddy Sasser.

Coach Burdette and assistant, Vincent Vaughn, are proud of their new freshmen and transfers. They named Wally Hoffman, Ronnie Armstrong, Gary Seay, Richard Johnson, Reg Barnett, and Don Cunningham as one of the best group of freshmen in several years at UTMB.

"Every position is wide open," said coach Burdette. "We think we'll have a better ball club than last year."

Volleyball Season To Open October 30th

By Mary L. Ross

Volleyball is the team sport for fall quarter.

The opening game of the season will be White team vs. Yellow team. This is scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 30, at 5 p.m. In the gym. In games not scheduled yet, Black will play Red; Blue will play Green, and Orange will play Brown.

The individual sport for this quarter is table tennis. All you have to do to enter the tournament is enter your name on the sign-up sheet in the gym. A notice will be sent to you telling the name of your opponent and the deadline for playing the game, which can be played anywhere there is a ping pong table.

Each time you play in a game you score one point (even if you lose), and if your team wins, two points are scored. The five sophomore men and women having the most points receive a "T" letter, and the two sophomore and senior men and women having the most points each receive a trophy.

Adding to the competition again this year will be the trophy given to the sorority having the most points. There will also be a trophy presented to the winning fraternity. Last year's winners were Chi Omega and Pi Kappa Alpha.

This, in a very large nutshell, is intramurals. The thing to remember is that they are for fun and for everyone. Let's all participate and make this the greatest year yet in the history of UTMB intramurals.

...for a life of pride and purpose

Among the young people being graduated from college in these times, there are some who think and feel—perhaps a little more deeply than the others—about the world we live in, the future we face. They ask, "How can I make my career really meaningful? More than just personally rewarding?"

And many of today's most successful young people are finding a fulfilling answer to these questions as officers on the Aerospace Team... the United States Air Force. They can tell you that no career could better combine the opportunity for achievement—and the deep inner satisfaction of knowing that they are helping preserve the very future of America.

How can you become an Air Force Officer?

If you are a college senior and not currently enrolled in ROTC, Air Force Officer Training School provides an opportunity to qualify for a wide variety of career fields. The graduate of this three-month course receives a commission as a second lieutenant. As the Air Force continues its technological advance, officers with college training will move into positions of increasing importance.

For full information—including the opportunity to earn graduate degrees at Air Force expense—see the Air Force Selection Team when it visits your college, visit your local Air Force Recruiting Office, or write: Air Force Officer Career Information, Dept. SC210, Box 805, New York 1, New York.
